

DR. KERSTEN & PARTNER
ENGINEERING & EXPERT

In the beginning there is the idea...

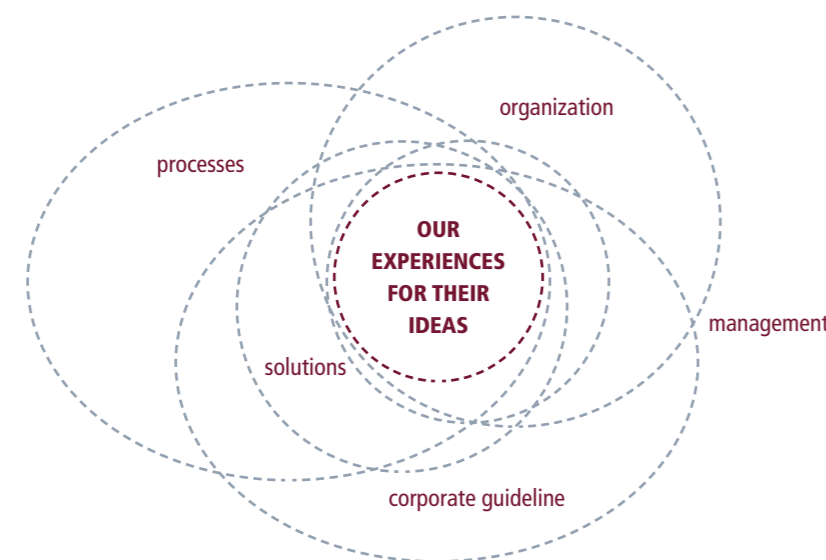

- Development and implementation of mobility projects
- Technical project management
- Interim Management
- Safety amp & Risk Management
- Planning and implementation of environmental
- Qualifications and training
- supplier improvement
- Certification of management systems

To advance our own experience and to make use of the demand.
Going on a journey of exploration in our customer's own company.

Today, the engineering-partnership Dr. Kersten & Partner works globally and consists of a pool of engineers and authorised experts for a wide range of business sectors.

A company can no longer just be compared to the interaction of several parts of a gear mechanism but rather defined as a complex drive system.

We support you in development and implementation of process-orientated organization systems, ranging from conception and implementation to refinement.

Lasting effect.

Knowledge is the raw material of modern industry.

Processes and organization

Together with us you will recognize risks and professional limits as corporate opportunities and will discover ways to benefit from them!

QUALITY – what does that mean?

Quality can be defined differently.

„Quality is customer satisfaction.“

Quality stands for a company's engine as well as for its productivity and economic potential. The employees represent the drive mechanism, drive coupling can be seen as a symbol for the interfaces between the departments, and auxiliary drive systems stand for the exchange of ideas, which is the driving force of an innovative system; and the ideas of the employees form the Fuel of the entire system.

Achievements and solutions

Right from the beginning the requirements of our achievement are defined by the company's complexity.

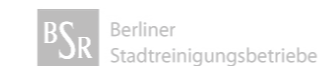

We support our customers in converting ideas into effective solutions.

We are pleased to bring in our expertise and ideas and carry out projects together with our customers to success.

Together we will find professional solutions in new markets.

Our corporate guideline has served as a good medium for the organizational evaluation in numerous companies.

INGENIEURE & SACHVERSTÄNDIGE

„The best concepts can be realized by the fact that the customer pursues them after the project is finished.“ Dr. Kersten

What if...

You could reinvent your market
Without having to think about anything that makes you compromise?

And what about courage and a real willingness for innovation?
The courage to trust in each other.

Do you believe that only someone with knowledge and visions from the outside, someone inspirational could help you!

Demanding questions...

That's why we should get to know us!
We ask these questions – and a hundred more.
What makes us different is our thinking - our passion for going on a journey of exploration for our customer's company..

We activate opportunities and markets.
With emotional intelligence as the basis for excellent ideas that promise a resounding success.

Being near the excitement.
